Whether prior to its arrival at The Gabriel Foundation or upon placement with The Gabriel Foundation, every bird must undergo a thorough avian wellness exam, the nature of which may vary depending upon the bird's species, age, history or physical findings. This extremely important procedure helps to provide for the safety of your bird as well as the current flock in residence at The Gabriel Foundation. Parrots often mask their illnesses, and though your bird may "act fine" or has "never been sick" diagnostics can help to determine whether or not that is correct according to the best current practices in avian medicine. Birds may pass disease through their feces and oral or nasal discharge to other birds. Parrots may carry Chlamydomphila psittaci or avian tuberculosis that is transmissible to other birds or people.

TGF’s Avian Medical Protocol is designed to rule out possible indicators of disease. The charges for this testing can vary for an avian wellness exam and diagnostic testing, but average estimates are:

Canary/Finch/Budgerigars/doves, pigeons	$60.00
Cockatiel/Lovebird/small birds	$75.00
Most other parrots	$250.00/$350.00

You and/or your veterinarian will be provided a copy of The Gabriel Foundation’s Avian Medical Requirements prior to admission to The Foundation. We suggest that all costs should be discussed with your veterinarian prior to any testing. This bird has been in your care and you have been responsible for its welfare as its owner. If your bird has never been to a veterinarian with a special interest in avian medicine, TGF will arrange a veterinary wellness exam with one of our attending veterinarians or make a referral. TGF strongly requests that you make a restricted donation for the veterinary/medical intake exam when these services are provided by TGF on behalf of your bird.

To ease your bird’s transition into TGF, whenever possible, when your bird is relinquished please provide your bird’s cage, dishes and toys along with any of your bird’s favorite things.

The Foundation is requested to accept hundreds of birds annually. Due to the cost of medical care, caging, toys, food, flight habitats, staff and the day-to-day business needs of providing for the birds, it is financially impossible to provide high standards of care for resident birds without your financial support for your bird’s care at The Gabriel Foundation. Your financial responsibility does not end when your bird is placed with the Foundation.

Program support fees provide for the absolute best in care for your bird(s) while in the care of The Gabriel Foundation. Benefits include:

- Daily hands-on care and interaction, bird-to-bird social interaction, frequent bathing and attention to special-needs birds by highly skilled aviary technicians.
- Nutritious, well balanced diets that include fresh greens, vegetables, fruit, legumes, grains, nuts, seeds, Lafeber’s Nutriberries, and other bird food diets as appropriate.
- Indoor & Outdoor habitats (depending on your bird’s physical location) with enriched environments, and foraging opportunities.
- Medical services and quality supportive care provided by experienced veterinarians with a special interest in avian medicine, CVT’s, TGF’s trained staff and AHT’s.

The Program Fee Schedule reflects minimum financial support for each bird relinquished to The Gabriel Foundation. All program fees and veterinary care reimbursement are tax-deductible for birds in TGF’s Sanctuary and Rehabilitation programs. All donations, both cash and non-cash provided for any bird in TGF’s sanctuary or rehabilitation programs are tax-deductible and will be acknowledged.

Photos and updates of your bird will be provided upon request to The Gabriel Foundation. We encourage you to email or submit your request online for follow up information regarding your bird.
